Charles "Chaz" Campbell

Charles Campbell, call sign "Chaz" is the Director of Afterburner University and the most senior member of the Afterburner Team. He recently retired from active service having achieved the rank of Brigadier General and accumulating over 30 years of service in the US Air Force and the Florida Air National Guard. He now shares his experiences and leadership lessons with Afterburner clients and students in the Afterburner University.

During his career Chaz has commanded at all levels of the Air Force structure. None more demanding than his last assignment as the Vice Commander of Air Forces North, First Air Force where he dealt with the "Can't fail" high pressure environment of Air Defense of the entire United States airspace...helping ensure "9-11" will never happen again! Chaz is not only a graduate of the US Air Force Fighter Weapons School but was also selected as an instructor in the most elite of the Air Force fighter schools. He led the first F-16 team in the William Tell Air to Air competition and designed and commanded the first fighter Air National Guard Instructor Pilot Associate program to the US Air Force. He has been combat ready in the F-4, F-16 and the F-15 with over 3,700 hours. Chaz was handpicked in 2007 to lead the Afterburner University. In that capacity he develops and executes the highly successful curriculum of the Flawless ExecutionSM program.
